LIBRARY NEWS

END OF AN ERA

A familiar face at the Library is leaving in May: Kevin Justie, Assistant Director and Head of Automated Services and Technology, is retiring after 34 years at MGPL.

After receiving his master's degree in library science, Kevin began his career at MGPL in 1982 as a reference librarian. He took on responsibility for the Library's first computer, purchased a year later, a role that eventually led to responsibility for all Library computers and technology. Under his direction the Library's card catalog and check-out desk migrated online, the library's first website was developed, public internet computers were added, and all essential Library services were automated.

With the added responsibility of Assistant Director in 1999, Kevin played important roles in overseeing the physical facilities, editing the Books & Beyond newsletter, developing Library policies and procedures, and much more. He also served twice as the Library's interim director, but always preferred to retain his more hands-on assistant director responsibilities rather than the administrative responsibilities of the permanent director position.

The success of the Library's 2015 remodeling project is due in no small part to Kevin's contributions to the planning process, as well as his day-to-day involvement with contractors during construction.

Please join us in wishing Kevin all the best in his retirement!
